

Serenity vs. Schism breakout tent

CATHY WEETMAN

Despite the cooler weather a week ago, a few dozen residents arrived at the Breakout Tent in front of the CETC over the course of five days to help Dr. Serenity save the planet from Professor Schism's dastardly plan to doom it.

Once the teams arrived in separate time slots, assistants Verna Wicks from the Drayton Valley Municipal Library and Aisha Nohm from the Town of Drayton Valley explained the various parts of the activity and by choosing correct answers to questions, teams could unlock a variety of boxes giving them access to more clues and the final clue. The locks themselves varied as some had letter combinations, number combinations, colour combinations and shapes just to make the event more interesting.

According to Nohm and Wicks, this activity didn't take place last year because of the COVID-19 pandemic, so planning for the eco-friendly event took place this February instead and was finally launched in June with the theme of Waste Management in recognition of Waste Management Week.

Each of the participants received goodie bags containing water bottles and other things. Funding for this event came from the Drayton Valley Community Foundation for the purchase of a robot kit, snap kits and digital equipment.

The library also organized a mini

Battle of the Books for students in Grades Three and Four and also for Grades Five and Six, which wrapped up recently. Winners were as follows:

Team Results: 1 - Aurora Quizmasters (69.23%) 2 - St. A's Ghosties (53.85%) 3 - St. A's Book Bandits (46.15%) 3 - St. A's Book Busters (46.15%) 4 - St. A's Book Crushers (38.46%) 5 - St. A's Reading Rebels (30.77%) Individual Results: 1 - Aurora's Isaac (53.85%) 2 - Aurora's Brady (30.77%).
